What's New In?

Kat Clock is a nice and animated clock widget that enables you to keep track of the time. Kat Clock can be set to meow regularly and you can customize it's appearance. Simplicity has become really complex. It feels like there are a million of them out there. There are RSS readers, Facebook apps, Twitter apps, mail clients, blog readers, image viewers, activity tracking programs, and alert manager apps. On top of that, every time you find one you like, you have to uninstall all the others. Here's where the "10,000 app" problem comes in. The problem with all these apps is that you may find the one you like right now, but will never find it again when you need it in the future. That's where I want to come in. I have developed something called "Freshen", a simple, minimal and fast RSS feed reader. Freshen is designed to be easy to use, versatile and fast. It's written in C and uses the Yahoo! Widget Engine as a client. In fact, Freshen uses only the very minimum of Yahoo! Widgets, leaving more room for your widgets. Freshen has no unnecessary features (like a fancy UI), just clean, simple functionality. With Freshen, you can easily and quickly get any of your RSS feeds, Twitter accounts and Facebook groups on your homepage. You can even add RSS feeds and Twitter accounts and link them all together, if you want. You can't beat Freshen, especially with the new 'Freshen +' feature. Freshen is still under development, so I'll be making many improvements to it over the next few months. If you have any suggestions or ideas for new features or refinements, let me know. Freshen Features: ⬚ Fast ⬚ Clean ⬚ Simple ⬚ Easy to use ⬚ Useful ⬚ Free ⬚ Open source ⬚ Auto updates ⬚ Short ⬚ No ads, no pop-ups ⬚ Use Google AdSense in the background ⬚ Offline ⬚ No tracking ⬚ Twitter and Facebook groups support Kat Clock Description: Kat Clock is a nice and animated clock widget that enables you to keep track of the time.
